

Ogden A. A. Athletes Expected to Defeat Colleges

Fastest Sprinters in Western States to Compete For Honors

Will Haymond, Martin, Wilson, Larson and Richards Be Able to Score More Points Than the Combined Aggie and Utah Scores? Many Fans Betting On Outcome.

Yea, Bo!

The argument has started! One gent said it could be done and before he had completed his little "side" light on the big event a second dyed-in-the-wool fan stepped forward with fire in his eye and said absolutely NO. And before the affair could be settled, one perfectly good Underwood typewriter, the writer, the Wee Gee board and half dozen sport followers and their favorites, comprising some odd scores retreated to the ante-room—(of course, there was nothing to ante)—where the matter was thrashed out.

And fans, before we forget or before you go to sleep reading this chapter, let it be said that the argument concerned the coming track and field meet which will be staged under the auspices of the Ogden Athletic association. And so here you have the story.

First gent: "Say, old top, do you know that Haymond, Larson, Richards, Wilson and Martin, the Ogden A. A. boys, will walk off with the honors in the big track meet, and do you know that they will defeat both the Aggies and Utah and to come down to brass tacks and empty 'spit' bottles they will total more scores than the combined University of Utah and Utah Aggie teams? Yea, they will do it, and win in a walk."

Second gent: "Say, Percival, don't try to kid the natives; you evidently know that we are living in the twentieth century and your gaff on the meet is all wrong. I tell you wrong, wrong, wrong. Why, the Aggies and Utah will have fifty men in suits and the Ogden A. A. but four; say, Percy, marks."

BY "AL."

old dear, better add the figures again." And now just as the argument is getting hot, in walks the Wee Gee board and the result of the meet is soon outlined as follows: Ogden A. A., 62; U. of U., 31; Utah Aggies, 25; Ogden High and other high schools 15. Thus, according to the "little fellow" the four superathletes will more than double the score of the two Utah colleges.

Not being satisfied with the answer, Wee Gee gave the second gent, Wee Gee was asked what events the A. A. men would score and how many points, to which Wee Gee replied: "Say, Colonel, you asked for your information and received same, and being as I am in great demand in many parts of the country tussling out arguments, questions on love affairs, on international problems, on the ages of men and women and scores of others I think that by attending the meet that you will be well repaid and besides you will satisfy your curiosity. Bang! Curtain!"

But in the mind of the sport followers and men who know the merits of the Ogden men it is an almost cinch that they will score more points than the combined Utah and Aggie scores. At any rate, it should be the greatest meet ever held in the western part of the country with only the best high school men entered, the A. A. stars and the two colleges.

In order to appreciate the worth of Utah's sterling athletes one must be present. The meet will start promptly at 3 o'clock and it is expected a record crowd will be on hand when the starter bellows forth, "On your marks."

Vacation Time

If You'd Forget All Your Troubles---Fish

By MORRIS ACKERMAN

Well-Known Fish and Game Authority.

Now is the time to plan your fishing trip. As most annual vacations are taken during the months of June, July and August a few suggestions about the outfit needed, where and when to go might not be a bad idea.

Our suggestion is that you take plenty of old clothes. A sweater is good for the early morning and the cool of the evening. A raincoat or slicker is often a welcome friend on most fishing trips.

If you are going to fish from a canoe or spend your days in a rowboat you will find a pair of tennis shoes comfortable and safer than shoes. A straw hat like the farmer wears is shady and cool.

If it is stream fishing, hip boots or waders are the thing. Stream casting from rocky shores and occasional crossing of wet places call for a fairly heavy pair of water proof shoe packs.

An old pair of kid gloves for hands unaccustomed to handling a pair of oars should be in the duffle.

"Fly dope" and anti-mosquito preparations never go amiss. They stick up the face and hands but make life more miserable for the common enemy than for the user—your only satisfaction.

A bit of adhesive tape, medicated gauze, cotton, iodine and a mild laxative are other essentials.

Now for the instruments of war: Rod, reel, line and lure. In this connection we advise against spoiling an otherwise successful vacation by the use of poor equipment. Our advice is a good quadruple running bait reel, without frills. If you want the "frill" attachments we suggest an extra part.

A trolling for big fish your heavy outfit is all right if you want to drown the pie, lunge or laker, but if it is "play" you want after the fish is hooked your light tackle is the thing.

Use your own judgment on the lure—either natural or artificial. The world is full of fish fakers. Our only advice is not to try to sling light lures with heavy tackle. In bait rods it is the weight of the lure that carries out the line while in fly rods it is the weight of the line that carries out the lure. If your tackle dealer don't know the game change tackle dealers.

Where and when to go. That is up to you. The opening season on game fish in most states, except trout, is the middle of June to July 1. The beginning of the season is the most popular time, though July is not as sneezed at. August is usually the poorest of the three vacation months for fishing.

September is another good time if you can make the grade then. The man who can stand the gaff won't find early October so bad either. Most fish spawn in the spring which accounts for the closed season at that time. Brook trout and salmon spawn in the fall, consequently a closed season on them in the fall.

Remember on a light outfit a small fish gives you the same thrill that a big fish does on heavy tackle, if not more.

What They Say

BILLY EVANS.

An umpire ought to know just about what kind of an assortment of foolers a pitcher carries. Billy Evans, veteran of the American League, has been keeping close tab on Eddie Cicotte of the White Sox this spring.

"Naturally I was greatly interested in watching Cicotte work, since he has been hailed as the peer of freak pitching, which is now on the shelf. To my surprise he showed me a varied assortment of stuff. His fast ball is as good as ever. It still takes that little uncanny hop which makes it so hard to hit. He also has a beautifully breaking spitter, with which he mixes up a slow curve and his old-time deceiver, the knuckle ball. When you force six of the Tigers down on strikes, the mighty Ty Cobb and Veach among the victims, you sure must have something on the ball. I am inclined to disagree with those who figured that the elimination of freak pitching meant the passing of Cicotte. He appears to be as sweet a pitcher as ever in 1921, when the spitter exits, I look for Cicotte to be as good a pitcher as in the past. Eddie is endowed with gray matter."

JOHN MCGRAW.

Injuries suffered on the gridiron have eclipsed the futures of many promising baseball players. That is why a college ball player is a gamble until he is away from the shadows of the goal posts. John McGraw says: "Franch Frisch was fortunate as a football player in that he did not sus-tain an injury of such character as to hamper him in his ball playing. A number of prospective major league stars have failed to attain greatness because of the results of injuries received on the gridiron. Harry McCormick, for one, would have been a great ball player had he not injured both knees and one shoulder while playing football at Bucknell. There is Dave Robertson, too. Dave probably would have been as fine a left-handed pitcher as there is in baseball today, but in the last game of football he hurt his left shoulder and he hasn't been able to throw a curve ball since. Only the fact that he is a good hitter enabled him to remain in major league baseball. Those two are notable examples of what I have in mind. There have been many others."

ARTIE ROOT.

Seeing Champion Johnny Kilbane knock Alvie Miller down nine times before he stayed put only served to make Artie Root braver. Root has a side bet of a thousand smackers on himself that he will beat Kilbane when they meet in Cleveland. Here's the way he hopes it:

"Say, I saw enough to convince me that my chances are even better than I had figured. If Kilbane had really been at his best and hitting as hard as his best and hitting as hard as he used to, do you think Alvie could have kept coming back as often as Johnny knocked him kicking? Not on your life. If Kilbane was in top notch form Alvie would have at least been planted for good in the fourth round. But he stuck till the seventh."

ONE BABE CAME BACK.

PITTSBURGH.—Baseball fans are pulling for Babe Adams this spring. He is a real comeback. One big league umpire says that when Adams gets in the box everybody gets set for a real game. His control is better than ever.

HE'S SECOND REUTHER.

SALT LAKE CITY.—Walter "Dutch" Reuther has a rival. He is Walter "Dutch" Levern, pitcher for the Salt Lake club. He is a left-hander. Has had one trip to the majors as Reuther did. Experts say he'll soon be up again.

LOOK IN THE BOOK.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Johnny Griffith, Akron Flash, is going to the Pacific Coast to take on some of the four rounders. When asked who he wanted as opponents Griffith replied, "look 'em up in the book."

The poor man has two advantages over his rich neighbor. He can wear out all his old clothes and he is seldom troubled with tiresome callers.

It is far easier to coax a poor performer to tackle a piano than it is to chase him away from it.

GALA TRACK MEET IS AGAIN HALTED

Meet Will Be Staged Monday Instead of on Saturday

The gala track and field meet, which has been on the mantle for weeks, will be staged at Lorin Farr park next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock sharp, instead of the coming Saturday, as had previously been announced. Due to a conflict in dates, the local meet was halted and scheduled for Monday, May 10. The change was made in order that the best high school material in the state, together with the college stars and the Ogden A. A., might all compete together after the state interscholastic meet at Provo next Saturday.

As a result, more than thirty of the best high school athletes in the state should be on deck, besides more than seventy-five other stars. Due to the fact that the school officials of Salt Lake and Utah counties refused to close gates and allow the students to attend on Friday, the date of the interscholastic was changed, and since the change the steps taken in preparation for the meet caused a hitch. But it has all been settled and the meet Monday afternoon should be a 100 per cent better meet than the one previously scheduled. Don't forget the class of the west will be snapped in action, so don't be late.

In his letter to this department he said he would wrestle the local man for a side bet of $1,000, and that he is willing to place his end at any time.

Weber to Clash With Ogden Diamond Stars

Lefty Leverenz, termed the Walter Reuther of the Coast league, pitched superbly, ball for ball, and had the invaders eating out of his palm. In fact, Walter was stingy at all times and up to the eighth inning allowed but two scratch hits.

While Walter was twirling such a snappy game the Bee mates took to sea and scored five markers for the mound star. One of the largest crowds of the season was in attendance.

REINSTATE DELAY

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The board of review of the National trotting association at its meeting today reinstated Albert Delay of Waterbury, Conn., who with his horse, Ednal, had been expelled in 1915.

It was charged that Delay had entered the horse under other names, one of which was Lady St. Clair. The board has refused to permit the horse to race again in any of the national association events.
